

INHIBITOR DISPENSING PIPELINE PIG

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of distributing liquid present in the lower portion of a gas pipeline to the interior upper surface of the pipeline including the steps of passing a pig having a venturi therein, the venturi being actuated by gas pressure taken from within the pig, siphoning liquid from the lower interior portion of the pipeline through the venture and distributing siphoned liquid onto the pipeline upper interior surface.